ALIAS SUMMONS.

IN the Justice Court of Reno Township, in and for the County of Washoe, State of Nevada: The State of Nevada sends greeting to R. B. Ginter. You are hereby summoned to appear before me, at my office in Reno Township, in the County of Washoe, on the 24 day of February, 1893.

At 10 o'clock A. M. to answer upon the complaint of George M. Humphrey, who sues you to recover the sum of forty-five ($45) dollars, alleged to be due him for money loaned to you on the 15th day of October, 1892, when judgment will be taken against you for said amount, together with costs and damages, if you fail to appear and answer. To the Sheriff or any Constable, Grovering, Waite legal service and due return hereof. Given under my hand this 31st day of October, A. D. 1892. Justice of the Peace of said Township.

The House of Babel in Dogs.

Dogs are able to track their masters through crowded streets, where recognition by sight is quite impossible, and can find a hidden biscuit even when its faint smell is still further disguised by saw de cologne. In some experiments Mr. Romanes lately made with a dog he found that it could easily track him when he was far out of sight, though no fewer than eleven people had followed him, stepping exactly in his footsteps, in order to confuse the scent.

The dog seemed to track him chiefly by the smell of his boots, for when without them or with new boots on it failed, but followed, though slowly and hesitatingly, when his master was without either boots or stockings. Dogs and cats certainly get more information by means of this sense than a man can. They often greatly excite over certain smells and remember them for very long periods.—Chambers' Journal.

The Woodpecker's Home.

The woodpecker's home is very like the kingfisher's, but it is dug in rotten wood instead of being bored in a bank of earth. From the great ivory billed species down to the little downy fellow of our orchards, the woodpeckers build their nest, or rather excavate them, on the same general plan. The hole at first goes straight into the wood, then turns downward, widening as it descends, until it gives room for the home. If you will go into any bit of unshorn woodland during early spring and will keep your eyes open, you will see a bright red head thrust out of a round window in some decaying trunk or bough, and the woodpecker will sing out, "Peep! peep!" which always seems to mean that his or her home is a most comfortable and enjoyable place.—Maurice Thompson in Golden Rule.

As Good as He Gave.

A reproach which was just and not discourteous was once addressed to a young rector who had been reared under the highest of church doctrines, and who held that clergymen of all other denominations are without authority and not entitled to be called ministers of the Gospel. One evening at a social gathering he was introduced to a Baptist clergyman. He greeted the elder man with much manner and ostentation. "Sir," he said, "I am glad to shake hands with you as a gentleman, though I cannot admit that you are a clergyman." There was a moment's pause, and then the other said, with a quiet significance that made the words he left unsaid emphatic. "Sir, I am glad to shake hands with you—as a clergyman."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Why the Child Cried.

A Brooklyn physician says that he was recently attending a family where the little man of the house was in a somewhat refractory humor, and thinking to quiet him he said, "How would you like it now if I should take you away from your little sister away from you?" The boy sulked and did not reply, but as the doctor arose to take his leave the child burst into a weeping blubbering. He was asked what was the matter. "Doctor," he said, "I am glad to see you go, but I am sorry to see you go without taking sister," he answered.—New York Recorder.

Two Honest Men.

A Paris furniture dealer recently bought from an architect an old writing table, and in overhauling it he found a packet containing 1,600 francs. He at once informed the former owner of his find, and he was rewarded by an honest declaration on the part of the architect that the latter knew nothing whatever about the money and would not accept it.—Paris Letter.

POWNING AT THE BANQUET.

His Response to the Toast "The Young Men of the Party."

Gen. O. C. Powning, who received the highest vote on the Silver ticket last Fall, was called upon to respond to the toast "The Young men of the Party" at the Stewart banquet at Carson Thursday evening, and responded as follows:

Gentlemen: I am delighted to acknowledge the compliment of the toast-master. It is not often that such a choice literary dish is printed on the menu.

I do not recall that such a toast was ever before offered or responded to in the State at a banquet of a political character, and yet the graciousness of this occasion is largely due to the active, energetic, enthusiastic campaigning of the young men of the State and of the Silver party.

It was a very bad boy who sat upon his father's knee and took his inspiration from the memories of the mound builders who inhabited sections of the State ages and ages ago, and cast his vote for this or that party because his dear papa told him that his grandfather had been a Whig or a Democrat in '49 or any other time. There is poetry in the thought that the young should profit by the experiences of their elders. Regrets are useless after mistakes are made, but the young men of the State of Nevada in the campaign of '92 determined to break away from the prejudices and passions of the past, and to fight for the most vital issue of the present and future. They "painted with pride" to nearly 5,000 majority in a contest for a great principle, against the combined forces of those who were so misguided in retaliation as to hug the mirage of broken promises, disappointed hopes, destructive casualties, at once the perspective and background of the picture of party fealty to which they clung because it formerly had been a pleasure. Under the mistletoe of duty to State and all the world, the young men lovingly inducted in their hearts the kiss of free and unlimited coinage of silver as received from the tips of their veteran instructors, and far happier than fair maidens of olden times, marched on in the glorious cause. It was of their excitement that kindled new fire in the eye and soul of the bold, aggressive, valiant Henry IV. of the silver cause, whom we delight to honor upon this occasion. The persuasive logic, penetrating intellect and force of character of the Hon. Thomas Wren was a tower of strength to the young Captains and Lieutenants.

The published utterances of the gray-haired editor of the Reno JOURNAL and his contemporaries made the victory much easier than contemplated.

The youngsters also bear in grateful remembrance the advice and counsel of Bonfield, Deal, Jatten, Dargstein and other active leaders in the cause.

But who can overlook the dash and vim of the alert, sprightly, nimble Nixon, the Chairman of the State Committee; or of the urbanity, civility and courteousness of Flannery, the Secretary; or of the services rendered by the eloquent, efficient, effective Mack; or the bewitching, independent, fascinating Hopping; or of the adroit, skillful, dexterous Bowler; or of the able, capable, correct Norcross; or of the hot, fervent, impulsive Pike; or the ardent, passionate Polson; or the fearless, daring, brave Noteware; or of the intrepid, undaunted, courageous Wheeler; or of the audacious, impudent, aggressive Davis, who kept the columns of the Appeal volume during the campaign; or of the amiable, acceptable, pleasing young Congressman from Washoe; or of the witty, willing, watchful Foster; or of the clever, ready, accomplished Cutler; or of the reliable, confident, certain McCarthy; or of the wise, discreet, sagacious Gignoux; or of the wise, sage, conscientious LaGrave; or of the attentive, obedient, vigilant McNaughton; or of the safe, swift, satisfactory Sharon; and the hundreds of others who made the hills and valleys echo and re-echo with Nevada's grand cry for freedom and prosperity for herself, and untold benefit for suffering humanity in every State of the Union. The pioneers have nearly all entered the valley of the shadow; their remains lie scattered around where the music of the stamptells tells them to peaceful slumber. Those who yet survive should be more grateful and charitable than those who failed to build up their offspring, for the present security and future prosperity of Nevada as a State depends upon its young men, and I hope I may realize the expectancy of the next quarter of a century to witness the development of the commonwealth to a condition of splendor and magnitude that the dome of the Capitol shall be studied with stars representing the valor, liberality, virtue, contentment and supreme happiness of all her people, achieved by the young architects and builders, upon whom a new era has dawned, and in whose wisdom, discretion, honesty and good judgment I have the most implicit and unreserved hope and faith. [Cheers and applause.]

FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used millions of mothers for their children while teething. It disbursts at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth, and at once gets a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhoea, regulates the stomach, and soothes the inflamed gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" is the children's teething remedy to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

The JOURNAL acknowledges the receipt of the Report of the Superintendent of State Printing. The following culled from the report speaks volumes for the manner in which the office has been conducted: "During the past two years a greater amount of work has been performed in this office than in any preceding two years, and by careful management the expenses were not increased, but, on the contrary, a surplus of $337.77 remains."

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Young Man Wagers He Would Shoot Himself and Forthwith Wins the Wager.

Last Sunday evening at about 6 o'clock a pistol shot followed by agonizing cries attracted the attention of Wm. Hoffman to a barn at the rear of his residence, where he discovered his son Albert writing upon the ground and apparently in great agony. A revolver was found on the ground and inquiry elicited the information that the young man had attempted suicide. Dr. Phillips was immediately summoned and discovered that the ball had passed through the stomach coming out at the back, inflicting a wound that will in all probability prove fatal.

Until lately young Hoffman has been employed in the Wieland Bottling Works, but was laid off on account of a lack of work in the department. He has appeared very despondent of late, but there was no intimation that he had any suicidal intent. He was about Wieland's saloon off and on all day Sunday, and in the evening, while conversing with the bartender, offered to wager $3 that he would shoot himself before morning. The bartender, thinking Hoffman was joking, accepted the bet and the money was put up. The young man immediately departed from the saloon and went to the barn at the rear of his parents' residence and shot himself with a .38 calibre pistol.

The doctor says there is a bare possibility of the patient's recovery, but the odds are greatly against him. He was rather an industrious young man and not addicted to strong drink. No reason can be given for the rash act and there seems to be an air of mystery surrounding the affair.

THE HAMILTON CASE.

The Decision of the Circuit Court Reversed.

J. L. Wines received a dispatch yesterday informing him that the Court of Appeals of the Ninth Circuit yesterday reversed the decision of the Circuit Court of the United States in the case of Asa M. Hamilton vs. the Southern Pacific Company. The case, it will be remembered, was tried in the United States Court at Carson and the plaintiff was awarded $47,500 damages. Counsel for the railroad company made a motion for a new trial and Judge Hawley reduced the amount of the judgment to $15,000. The defendants appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, composed of Judges McKenna, Gilbert and Knowles, with the result above stated.

The plaintiff, Hamilton, had a first-class, unlimited contract ticket, purchased of a sealer at Denver, Colorado, which was supposed to be good to San Diego. The conductor on the Truckee division refused to recognize the ticket and Hamilton was taken off the train by the Constable at Lovelock. He brought suit for $75,000 damages and was awarded $47,500 by a jury in the United States Court on the ground that more force than was necessary had been used to eject him from the train. Judge Hawley held that the ticket was void and that Hamilton was a trespasser on the train, and that the damages were awarded for the reason stated, that more force had been used than was necessary to eject him from the cars.

REDUCED PRICES.

An Opportunity Offered For the Reduction of Household Expenses.

R. C. Willis, having met with such wonderful success in the sale of a number of specified articles at reduced prices for cash, a list of which appears in his advertisement, has decided to reduce the prices on all articles he is carrying, and commencing February 1st will sell for cash only. He promises that the prices on everything will be much lower than ever before. His stock is guaranteed to be first-class, and includes, besides a full line of groceries, crockery, overalls, working shirts, boots and shoes, ham, bacon, lard, ammunition, nails and fish, fruit and vegetables in season. This opportunity should not be overlooked by those desirous of reducing their household expenses.

Tobacco Users Smile Sometimes
When told that tobacco hurts them; their wives never do, because shattered nerves, weak eyes, chronic catarrh and lost manhood, tells the story. If your husband uses tobacco, you want him to quit, post yourself about No-to-bee, the wonderful, harmless, guaranteed tobacco habit cure, by sending for our little book titled: "Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away;" mailed free. Drug stores generally sell No-to-bee. THE STERLING REMEDY CO., Indiana Mineral Springs, Indiana.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became a Woman, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
